Italian Academic Cooperation promotes and sustains the collaboration between Italian and foreign universities in Educational, Scientific and Research programs. In the past few years, an increased number of international programs, particularly in Mediterranean countries has been developed, thanks to the fact that development of Italian cooperation projects is well integrated with the educational strategies of Italy.

Inter-university development cooperation has also been geared toward the international exchange student and research programs. There are regular relationships between Italian universities and International Center of Education and Academic Researches of Italy (CIFRA) for development of inter-university cooperation and realization of the international programs established by Italian and international universities in different countries.

This seminar will promote the opportunities for inter-university and student and research exchange programs established by Italian universities focused on Mediterranean academic centers.
